

Resources Related to Bullying

www.bullying.org

This is an informative kid friendly website to raise awareness of bullying, and offer support.

www.cyberbullying.com

This site was created by the Center for Safe and Responsible Internet Use (CSRUI), this website offers information for combating online social cruelty. There are guidelines for parents.

www.cyberbully.us

This is a website created by researchers/experts in the field: Dr. Justin Patchin and Dr. Sameer Hinduja. This website offers extensive information, resources and fact sheets.

www.netismartz.org

This site is provided by the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children and Boys and Girls Club of America, addresses wide variety of internet safety issues for children ages 5-17, parents, caregivers and educators. It provides facts, discussion topics and much more.

www.eyesonbullying.org

This website is created by Education Development Center. They offer a toolkit, that includes strategies, activities and resources to address bullying for caregivers, parents and youth.

www.isafe.org

This site is a non profit organization endorsed by U.S. Congress, iSafe America, Inc., provides information to educate and empower students to use the Internet safely.

www.media-awareness.ca

Provides critical thinking skills in young people about the impact of media on society

www.stopbullyingnow.com

This site provides definitions, intervention strategies that work, advice to help victims and bullies, offers resources and links as well. Created by Stan Davis, author: Schools Where Everyone Belongs

www.stopbullyingnow.hrsa.gov

Developed by HRSA, is an interactive anti-bullying website for youth and adults to learn more about bullying and what can be done to help reduce and prevent it.

www.stopbullyingworld.com

This website is part of WiredSafety.org, considered the largest online safety and education program in cyberspace and is geared for youth, caregivers and educators.

www.survivingbullies.com

This website offers a variety of resources on the issue of bullying including other leading anti-bullying website worldwide, articles for young adults and parents, research information, real-life stories from former targets.

www.teachingtolerance.org

Founded by the Southern Poverty Law Center, is a good website for those interested in fostering respect for differences among children.